Let StrucSure provide your happy ending. Protect yourself and your buyer with a 10-year structural home warranty.

Each house you build becomes someone's castle. Offering a 10-year structural home warranty communicates to your buyers that you care about their buying experience. It also shows them that you provide a quality product and stand behind your work.

In addition, a structural home warranty protects builders like you from expensive claims in the event a major structural defect occurs. Our coverage lasts for 10 years and begins on day one.

You may believe that a structural defect will never happen to you, but even solidly built homes can have problems. Colorado's expansive soil is a real "monster" and has been a source of frequent and expensive problems. The average structural claim of $30,000 could certainly affect your bottom line.
